JOHN WARDER JOINS BOTHWELL BOARD OF TRUSTEES

SEDALIA - Bothwell Regional Health Center has announced the addition of John Warder to its Board of Trustees following appointment by Mayor Elaine Horn and the City Council.

“Mr. Warder brings a wide variety of experiences and community service to our Board of Trustees,” said John Dawes, president and chief executive officer of Bothwell Regional Health Center. “We are honored to have someone with his depth of experience working with us on issues regarding providing the highest quality patient care and meeting the many regulatory requirements of the health-care industry.”

After living and working in Minnesota for many years, Warder and his wife Bea returned to Sedalia in 2009 to help care for a family member. Warder was involved in multiple community service efforts during his time in Minneapolis, including five years as a board member for Children’s Health Center of Minneapolis. He also served as a board member for United Way, the Greater Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce, the Minneapolis Foundation and the Minneapolis School Board.

During his career, Mr. Warder was a chief executive officer in the banking industry and later owned a business that specialized in back pain products.

“What ties all these diverse interests together is my desire to improve the community for its residents,” said Warder. “Health-care reform will present some interesting challenges for the health-care delivery system. I look forward to providing guidance in implementing the necessary changes. I also have been impressed with the community support for the Canon Centers for Cancer and Cardiovascular Care and look forward to carrying that community service spirit forward into Bothwell’s future.”
